

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A light diffuser having a light diffusion layer comprises a glass substrate and a diffusion particle layer. The glass substrate consists of a first surface and a second surface at its either side. The diffusion particle layer is 5 directly disposed on the second surface of the glass substrate to simplify the construction of the light diffuser, and a plurality of diffusion particles are dispersed in the diffusion particle layer.